Relations Still Strained Between Griffis and Macks

Climbers Barely Speak to Athletics, and Are Snubbed in Return—Cashion Pitches To-day. Willett for Tigers.

By WILLIAM PERRY.

Detroit, Mich., July 30.—Like cats and dogs the Nationals and Connie Mack's Athletics eyed each other after breakfast in the Cadillac Hotel this morning. One or two of the old timers nodded to each other, but it was plainly evident that the strained relations between the clubs still exist, for there was no hobnobbing or general all-around hand-shaking.

Home Run Baker sat at the next table to Long Tom Hughes during dinner. Hughes tossed over a piece of bread, and shouted sarcastically: "I suppose you'll hit this over the right-field fence." Baker only grinned.

Eddie Collins and Chick Gandil gave each other plenty of room while passing through the lobby, and the entire Washington team trekked to the ball yard this afternoon to see the Tigers and Athletics clash. Griff's Climbers cheered Detroit from start to finish, and were rewarded with a ninth-inning victory.

Connie Mack Worried.

While the crafty manager of the two-time world's champions will not admit that his team is out of the 1912 race, yet the players themselves have lost all hope. Jack Barry said: "Boston has too big a lead. I am afraid we will never catch them. If we don't win the flag, I hope Washington does," showing that the young man bears no animosity toward Griff's Climbers. Barry is about the only one, however, for the other members of the Quaker army still hold the Athletics in contempt, looking upon them as upstarts, and refusing to hand out credit where credit is due.

Connie Mack and his players, to a man, deny that the Philadelphia club ever complained to Ban Johnson about Gandil trying to spike Collins the last time the teams met in Washington. Yet the fact remains that somebody did complain, for Gandil received a letter from the league president, warning him against future attempts to deliberately lay up an opposing player. This all happened several weeks ago. Gandil turned the letter over to Griffith, and ever since the episode was received, Griff has been trying to find out who wrote to Johnson.

Climbers Work Hard.

For two solid hours this morning Griff had the Climbers working at top speed on the Detroit ball park diamond. Joe Engel, Mueser, and Nick Altrock pitched to the batters, and the fielding practice was unusually stiff.

When the big scoreboard at Navin Field this afternoon showed Chicago a winner over Boston, Griff and his players showed no emotion, and the Old Fox cried: "Well, get 'em yet, just as I said we would." The Nationals are now only six full games behind the Red Sox, a clean gain of one game during the first Western encounter. The Climbers grabbed all four from Cleveland, Boston won three out of four from Chicago, and the best the Athletics could do against the Tigers was to split even.

From Chicago the Red Sox go to St. Louis, while the Nationals face the Tigers. Griff figures that St. Louis will win at least one from the league leaders, and does not see how Detroit can stop his scrapping youngsters from coming across with a clean sweep.

Cashion to Pitch.

Edgar Willett will undoubtedly start the game in the box for Detroit to-day, and it would not be surprising if Griff pitched Jay Carl Cashion, as the big boy needs a lot of work, and a little long rest would not hurt anyone. From Hughes' comment in the Washington Herald stated recently, John Henry may never catch another game for the Nationals. Griff received a telegram from Henry this morning, in which the collegian stated the best time was coming very slowly, and that he was hardly in shape to work. It is doubtful if Henry joins the club until it returns from the present Western trip.

Griff is greatly worried over Henry's condition. The collegian is confined to the house at his home in Amherst, Mass., and Griff wired him not to report until he felt able to go behind the bat.

Comedians in Form.

Detroit papers have been carrying each day this week long stories about the Schaefer-Altrock coaching combination, and if it is pleasant to overhearing. Whether or not the comedians will be allowed to get away with their screaming pantomime and two-ring circus depends upon the umpire. Connolly and Hart worked hard to-day, and Evans and Hart worked hard to-morrow. At any rate, both the comedians are primed for their laugh-producing stunts.

If the Nationals capture the pennant this season, it will be due to the coaching of Schaefer and Altrock. The coaching of Schaefer on the last Western whirl helped a lot of ball games, and now with Nick Altrock as a side partner the good work is sure to continue. In addition to furnishing fun for the fans and distracting the players on the opposing team with their foolish antics, Schaefer and Altrock are the life of the Nationals in practice.

They keep the players amused; they keep the players in buoyant spirits. It is easy to get work out of a crew of happy athletes, and all anybody really needs is more than Cliff Griffith, and he enters into the spirit of the comedy game like a good fellow.

Laughed to Victory.

It can be truthfully said that if the Washington Club lands the bunting they will have laughed their way to victory. The trip from Cleveland by boat last night was uneventful. Most of the players sat around the main saloon and discussed the harness races at North Randall. It seems that somebody tipped off a horse named Pee Wee as a good thing, and the majority of the boys did a little laughing. They are sorry now, for Pee Wee failed to breeze home a winner.

In addition to the long practice this morning Griff had his team in star chamber session for half an hour before the Athletics started for the ball park. These talks have resulted in much good, and at least a dozen games have been won on plays mapped out by the Old Fox, of which the baseball public and even the scribbles with the club, know nothing, for all meetings are secret, no outsiders being admitted.

Flynn Meets Barry.

Boston, Mass., July 30.—Dan Flynn, Boston's entry in the "white horse" race for boxing supremacy, who recently returned from Australia, will box Jim Barry, of Chicago, here August 6. Joe Jeannette was offered the engagement, but declined.

THORPE IS PRAISED.

President Taft yesterday wrote a letter of congratulations to James Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian boy who proved to be the best all-around athlete at the Olympic games. The president's letter was as follows: "I have much pleasure in congratulating you on account of your noteworthy victory at the Olympic games in Stockholm. Your performance is one of which you may well be proud. You have set a high standard of physical development, which is rarely attained by right living and right thinking, and your victory will serve as an incentive to all to improve those qualities which characterize the best type of American citizen. It is my earnest wish that your future will bring you success in your chosen field of endeavor."

With heartfelt congratulations, I am sincerely yours,

WILLIAM H. TAFT.
